LEARNING GOALS

Jean Monnet Module EU Public Procurement contains teaching and research activities focussing on EU public procurement. Academic added value stems from the introduction of special content covering legal, administrative, economic and environmental aspects of EU public procurement policy into economic study programmes. The module is designed mainly for students and practitioners who are not directly connected to the EU integration studies.

We aim to meet the needs of students and practitioners through modern online course

TOPICS INCLUDED

LEGAL FRAMEWORK

The new legal rules simplify public procurement procedures and make them more flexible. This will benefit public purchasers and businesses, particularly SMEs.

POLICY TRENDS

New trends pave the way for the digitalisation of public procurement, which will considerably increase the efficiency of the public procurement system. New public procurement concepts have been introduced.

COUNTRY SPECIFICS

EU law sets minimum harmonised rules for tenders. However, for tenders of lower value, national rules still apply.
